MATERNITY

Maternity sessions are a wonderful way for an expecting mother to celebrate her body and the life she is creating.

Typically maternity sessions are scheduled between 7 and 8 months into a pregnancy. Most baby bumps are prominent by this time and the uncomfortableness of the final month is still yet to come. But every mother and pregnancy is different so feel free to discuss your options with me to get the best results.

Sessions usually take an hour and can be done alone or with loved ones. Serene environments work best, so I suggest doing these types of shoots at home or at a peaceful place like a garden, or secluded beach.

Overall the session should be a relaxing and joyful experience where one can relish this moment. The final collection of images will serve as a cherished reminder of the joy and anticipation of meeting your new arrival!

Newborn Session

Newborn sessions are the perfect way to celebrate the birth of a child. My sessions are designed to capture this fleeting time in a comfortable and meaningful way. The results are beautiful images to share with generations to come.

Sessions last up to two hours in the comfort of your home. This allows for a relaxed pace with ample time for the breaks that you and your newborn may need. For the best results, I encourage you to schedule your session for a date in the first ten days after your baby's arrival. Babies tend to be more sleepy during this time which helps with posing and general ease of the session.

The images captured during your session will tell the story of your little one and their place in your growing family. The collection will include individual shots of your baby, as well as portraits of you all together. Pets are welcome too!

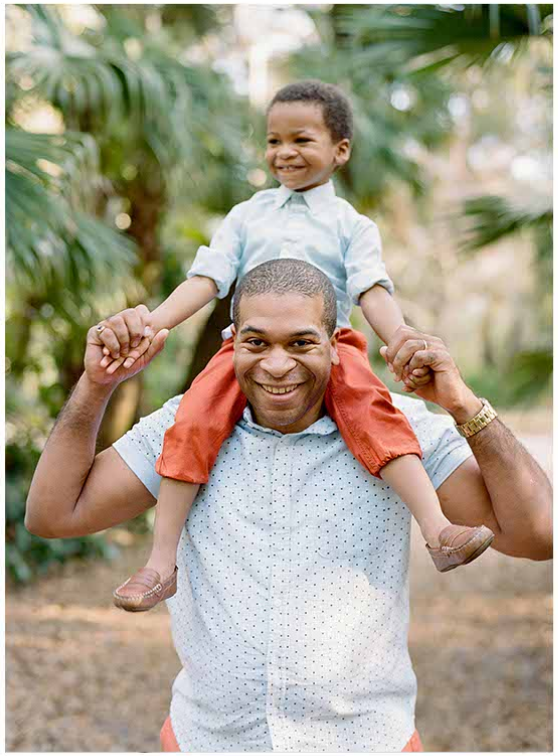
Family Session

Whether you are reaching a major milestone or just because, family sessions are great way to bond with your family and create lasting memories.

My sessions are designed to be fun and easy. They last for 45 minutes to an hour, but the shoot can often be completed in less time depending on the number and age of participants.

Sessions can be held at the location of your choice. Whether it's a local park, a favorite beach, or your home, choose a place that has meaning for you and that is accessible to the entire family.

In addition to capturing portraits of individuals and different groupings in a mixture of posed and candid shots, my main objective is to capture your family's lifestyle and relationships. The result is a collection of authentic portraits that tell the story of your family and the love that you all share.



Sessions start at $300 and include a pre-shoot consultation, up to an hour of photography, one year of online client proofing, and a set of proof prints. Additional products, such as albums, prints, and digital files are sold separately.
